Senior community thanks first responders with 'a feast to go'

BY MARY LOU CRUZ

Chefs at The Palace, a senior living community, grilled up a Middle Eastern feast and delivered 50 box lunches with shish kabobs, Israeli chopped salad, homemade hummus and a basmati rice and grilled vegetable dish called maqluba, which means “upside down,” to the Broward Sheriff’s Office and Fire Department in Weston.

“We wanted to show our appreciation for the work these men and women do every day,” said Elizabeth Martinez, marketing director at The Palace at Weston. “They are on the front lines fighting the coronavirus pandemic. We’re very grateful for them and their service.”

She said The Palace Group strives to be a good neighbor in cities in which its communities are located and are always ready to lend support when needed. While its teams are accustomed to caring for aging residents, it welcomes opportunities to give back and help others, too.

According to Martinez, similar boxed lunches will also be shared with members of the Homestead Police Department and Kendall Fire Rescue.
